Suspect Held Under Guard Around Clock

Wilkes-Barre — The Jonah L. Roberts hearing yesterday ended in the murder suspect's return to General Hospital for treatment and announcement by Judge Thomas L. Lewis that the hearing would be continued indefinitely.

Judge Lewis had previously cleared the way for Roberts' re-arrest by Luzerne County officials on a charge of murder.

The judge's decision came after a stormy opening session yesterday during which Lewis had told Assistant District Attorney Stephen A. Teller that he did not think Roberts could be held for murder on the basis of a transcript of testimony taken before Justice of the Peace Howell Evans at Wyoming last week.

That was the first time Roberts had been officially charged with the murder of his wife, Mary, who he says was killed by a pair of hitchhikers the couple had picked up in Scranton.

The 46-year-old Edwardsville machinist will be guarded around the clock at the hospital by deputy sheriffs. His removal to the institution climaxed a habeas corpus hearing that was recessed twice and finally continued after two examined the defendant and agreed he needed hospitalization.

Roberts became ill in the courthouse yesterday less than a half-hour after testimony from the State's array of witnesses had begun.

Speaking for the State, Teller said he would "build his case very slowly." The first witnesses bore this statement out.

First witness to take the stand was Dr. Carlos Rodriguez, a pathologist at the Wilkes-Barre general hospital who testified that he had examined the body of Mary Roberts at 8:45 a.m. on June 11.

The woman had been shot twice in the head, just in front of the left ear, the doctor said. One bullet entered a little above the other, he continued, and there were powder marks on both of the wounds.

He then stated that the bullets, which he later removed, had lodged in the right side of the head after shattering the cartoid artery, main source of blood to the brain. The woman died of hemorrhage and shock, Rodriguez said.

Next on the stand was Dr. Philip Morgan of Kingston, who removed the bullet from Roberts. (The accused man maintains that he was injured by the hitchhiker who killed his wife.)

Morgan testified the bullet entered the top of Roberts' left shoulder, traveled downward, was deflected by the fourth rib into the lower lobe of the left lung. The bullet was removed on July 7, Dr. Morgan said.

Under cross-examination by Frank Slattery, attorney for the defense, Dr. Morgan admitted that he was present when Roberts was given a "truth serum" test which Slattery insinuated had vindicated his client. Authorities, however, maintain that the test was improperly administered.

County Detective Joseph Miller identified two bullets shown him as the ones that were removed from Mrs. Roberts' body. County Detective Michael Cassie testified that he took the bullets and the one removed from Roberts to the State police laboratory in Harrisburg along with articles found in the death car.

A State police ballistics expert testified that in his opinion, all three bullets had been fired from the same .32 calibre revolver.

In response to Slattery's questioning, he admitted he had no weapon with which to compare them.

The State's next witness (and, it developed, the last one it was to be able to call) was Carl Dudeck of Nanticoke, a medical student who was first man to reach the Roberts car to the night of the murder.

Dudeck said he saw the door (Continued on page sixteen)

Producers Of Aluminum To Hike Prices

Washington, (AP)—Officials said yesterday the aluminum industry will be given a price increase averaging about 5.5 per cent, or approximately half the amount requested by producers.

One price official told a reporter an order will be issued Monday granting a ceiling hike of 1 cent per pound on raw aluminum—pig and ingot—and 5 per cent on semi-fabricated and fully fabricated products.

Officials said the increase undoubtedly will mean higher prices to consumers for goods made of aluminum or containing aluminum.

They said it also will mean higher costs for planes, ships, and other defense products.

One official said the increase was granted under existing price standards which allow price hikes to step up production in behalf of the defense effort.

Two American Helicopters Cross Ocean

Prestwick, Scotland (AP)—Two American helicopters made the first flying windmill crossing of the Atlantic Ocean yesterday and broke the non-stop distance record for this type of aircraft.

The two big Sikorsky H19s, loaded down with extra gas and each carrying a pilot and co-pilot, thrashed across the 850 miles of ocean between Keflavik, Iceland, and Prestwick, the last leg of a history-making journey from Westover Air Force Base in Massachusetts.

The crews said instruments showed they actually covered 920 miles in their efforts to evade bad weather. In any event, they bested the helicopter distance record set in 1946 in a flight of 703.6 miles between Dayton, O., and Boston.

Whirling along at a leisurely 90-mile-an-hour pace, the two craft sometimes were so low yesterday they had to dodge icebergs. They made the last hop in 11 hours and had three hours of fuel left when they landed.

Byrd Silent On Candidates

By The Associated Press
Sen. Harry F. Byrd of Virginia, long a power in Southern politics, refused to say yesterday whether he will throw his support to Democratic Gov. Adlai Stevenson or Republican Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower in the presidential campaign.

Byrd issued a crisp statement at Winchester, Va., after his colleague, Sen. A. Willis Robertson announced he will vote "the straight Democratic ticket next November."

Robertson and Byrd usually see eye to eye on political matters. Byrd indicated that before he makes up his mind he wants to see a "clarification of the views of both candidates on the many governmental issues which neither has yet discussed."

One of the key issues is expected to be civil rights.

Flying Saucer Queries Keep Air Force Officers Occupied

Washington, (AP)—The Air Force said yesterday it was getting so many flying saucer queries that regular intelligence work has been affected.

Most of the inquiries are from press and radio, but many are from the public, harassed Pentagon spokesmen said.

The Air Force said it has received 432 written reports on "sightings of unidentified aerial phenomena" so far this year.

The Air Force said earlier this week that some of the sighting reports, in the Southwest and elsewhere, may have been the result of armed services experiments with rockets and guided missiles.

But spokesmen said there was no connection with a reported new supersecret British guided missile. The Coast Guard meanwhile said it would make public a photograph

U. S. Tapping New Resources Of Uranium

Washington (AP)—The Atomic Energy Commission disclosed yesterday that it is tapping major new resources of uranium.

The announcement apparently means sharp gains for the United States in the atomic race with Russia since the precious fissionable metal is the key to the whole enterprise.

The commission told Congress that (A) an agreement has been reached with Australia to supply the vital ore to the United States; (B) by-product uranium from South African gold fields soon will be coming for American use; (C) Canada, long a major uranium supplier for Uncle Sam, has at additional milling facilities into operation at the Eldorado mine on Great Bear Lake, and (D) home production is speeding up.

The 12th semi-annual report from the AEC also reported "substantial progress" in developing improved atomic weapons during the past half-year, and "progress" toward atomic-powered aircraft.

The evidence that America's home grounds uranium production and exploration program has picked up steam—with more to come—appeared in this section of the report:

"Domestic production is increasing and new sources, both foreign and domestic, are nearly ready for initial production. Domestic ore production capacity was increased and additional production areas are being investigated."

The commission also told of an "accelerated" program of exploration—by land and from the air—designed to uncover further atomic treasure from such proven areas as the Colorado Plateau and perhaps find additional possibilities elsewhere.

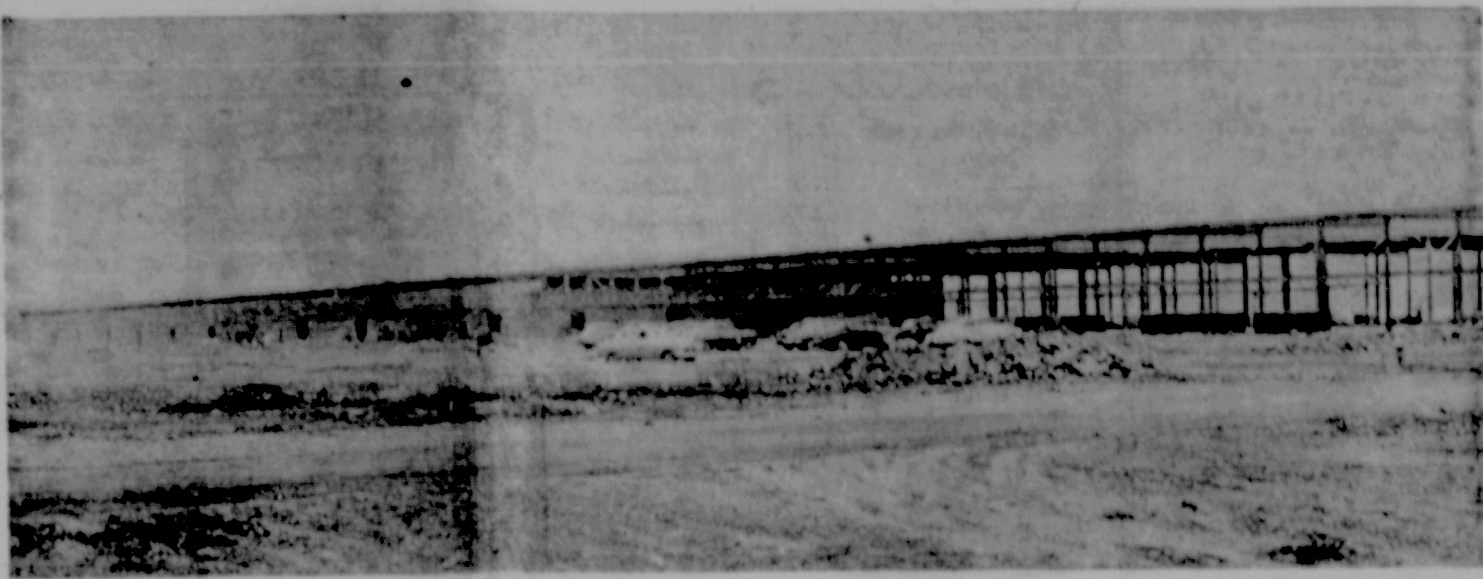

Large Atomic Ships Planned

Washington (AP)—The Atomic Energy Commission made a deal yesterday for development of an atomic power plant for "large naval vessels, such as aircraft carriers."

The AEC said the job of trying to perfect a nuclear power plant for ocean-going giants has been assigned to the Westinghouse Electric Corp.—the same firm which is already building an engine earmarked for installation in the Navy's projected atomic submarine, the USS Nautilus.

The contract for a "large vessel" power plant—coupled with the fact that the Navy has gone ahead with building the Nautilus even before its projected engine has been tested—immediately prompted speculation that the commission considers the basic problems solved and an engine assured.

Observers have speculated that 100,000 mile cruises at high speed and without refueling would be duck soup for a battleship or a commercial liner powered by atomic uranium, a pound of which could generate as much power as 1,500 tons of coal or 200,000 gallons of fuel oil.

FIRST OF FOUR WAREHOUSES each covering six acres of ground at Tobyhanna's Signal Corps depot nears the first stage of completion. Col. Charles S. Tucker, resident engineer, has indicated this building will be finished by Nov. 1. Three other structures 200 feet by 1200 feet in the immediate area are expected to be finished by Jan. 1, 1953. Only a small portion of this building remains without roofing and about 75 per cent of the structure has been finished with cement block walls. (Daily Record photo)

Milk Prices Rise Today; Ceilings Set

The minimum retail price of milk goes up today one cent a quart in 10 of Pennsylvania's 13 milk marketing areas including Monroe County. Comparable increases to producers are effective at the same time.

The retail price in the Lehigh area which includes Monroe County is increased from 22 to 23 cents a quart and the boost to dairy farmers averages 40 cents a hundredweight (46½ quarts) or from $5.70 to $6.10.

The OPS froze the State Milk Commission's prices as of today in Schuylkill, Scranton-Wilkes-Barre, Lehigh, Harrisburg, York, Williamsport-Sayre-Athens, Lancaster and Reading-Berks. Actually the State agency's minimum prices, the only one it fixes, will be the OPS ceilings.

The only exceptions to the price advances, authorized by the State Milk Control Commission, are the Philadelphia and Philadelphia Suburban and Erie marketing areas. The commission said the boosts were allowed in order to pass on to the consumer the "heavy upswing" in labor costs on the farm and in the milk plant.

About one-fourth of the price of a home delivered quart of milk goes toward paying labor costs involved in its production and delivery.

Commission statistics indicate labor costs of producing a quart of milk in the Keystone State are between 5 and 6 per cent higher than a year ago.

Theater Ceiling Falls On Children

Austin, Tex., (AP)—A large section of plaster ceiling collapsed in the Old Queen Theater yesterday, injuring 13 of a youthful audience that had come to see a Tarzan thriller.

Three were hurt seriously. Police said a real tragedy was averted only because the theater had not had time to get a full crowd.

Fifteen minutes after the accident, a long line of youngsters stood in front of the ticket window for refunds on the picture they didn't get to see.

Allies Retake Old Baldy Crest

Seoul, Korea, (AP)—Allied troops in a bloody bayonet attack early today drove Chinese Communists off the crest of Old Baldy on the Western Korean Front.

U. N. troops recaptured the muddy crest of the strategic Western Front hill just 10 days after a Chinese battalion drove them off.

An Army spokesman said about 200 Communists were knocked off the crest in seven-hours of fighting, which at times was hand to hand.

MacArthur Elected Chairman Of Remington Rand; To Take No Part In Election Campaign

New York, (AP)—Gen. G. Douglas MacArthur turned his back on politics and soldiering yesterday to begin a new career as chairman of Remington Rand, Inc., 227-million-dollar-a-year industrial corporation.

The former Pacific commander and Republican convention keynote speaker said he would take no part in the election campaign of Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower. He had backed Ohio Sen. Robert Taft for the nomination.

Buttonholed by reporters at a luncheon where his election as Remington Rand chairman was announced, MacArthur said firmly: "I will take no part in the campaign. I am embarking upon a new career in industry. I will not be a part of the political picture."

MacArthur's acceptance of the chairmanship was announced by James H. Rand, company president, who said the post had been offered him once three years ago and again shortly after he was relieved of his Pacific command in April last year. Now for the first time, Rand said, MacArthur felt free to accept it.

Additional Burglary Count Filed

East Stroudsburg borough police yesterday added another charge to burglaries that authorities said were committed by two young men from that borough.

The charge was filed with county and State police officials by Travis Seese of the East Stroudsburg police department. It involved the theft of 50 radiators from the used car lot operated by Murray Abloff on N. Courtland St.

Police Chief Arthur Swink said the two men—Joseph Miller, 22, of 24 E. Broad St. and Richard Lallier, 28, of 247 Harris St.—had admitted stealing the radiators which were valued by Abloff at approximately $700.

A third youth — 19-year-old Harry Zelluth of Portland—was not involved in the burglary, Seese said.

Yesterday's new charge came on the heels of an announcement by Northampton County officials that they would press three burglary charges against the trio. The action would be similar to that taken by Stroudsburg State Police, Stroudsburg and East Stroudsburg police departments.

Altogether, the trio are charged now with committing a series of 16 burglaries over a widespread area which includes Stroudsburg, Delaware Water Gap, Portland, Delaware and Columbia, N. J., and Northampton County.

There was a double-bitch to yesterday's new development. Chief Swink said last night that Abloff did not think of looking in the storehouse in which he kept "a lot of radiators" until after he had read the account of the three men's arrest in The Daily Record.

A close check of the warehouse revealed that 50 radiators were missing, Abloff told police.

Seese took the trio before East Stroudsburg Justice of the Peace Herbert Bonser last night for a hearing on the additional charge.

Arrest of the youths apparently spelled solution for a long series of burglaries which had plagued police during the past three months.

They were committed to Monroe County jail Wednesday by Justice of the Peace William Walton following a hearing on the 15 counts with which they were originally charged. Included: Max Blum's used car lot on Route 209; Sam Rubin's lot, Palmer Alley, Stroudsburg; the George Driebe lot on Third St.; Bernard Clemens' Service Station, 135 N. Courtland St., East Stroudsburg; The Totten Pole, Delaware Water Gap; Pennsylvania Highway Department stockyards at Minisink Hills; Overfield's bear stand near Portland; the Esso and Ayer's service station at Delaware, N. J.; the Collins equipment shop at Portland; (Continued on Page Three)

Auto Inspection Period Ends

Harrisburg, (AP)—The State Revenue Department last night warned that all drivers not displaying an up-to-date inspection sticker on their windshield by today run the risk of arrest and a fine.

Secretary Otto F. Messner pointed out that the three-month inspection period ended at midnight last night. The new sticker certifies the owner of the car for another six months.

Crops Valued In Millions Drying Up

Washington (AP)—The government took emergency action yesterday to relieve the effects of a drought which has burned up crops worth millions of dollars in at least a dozen states.

Alabama, Georgia, Kentucky and Mississippi were declared "disaster loan areas" by the Agriculture Department as a result of the prolonged heat and lack of rain.

Tennessee and large parts of Missouri and Arkansas already have been designated as disaster areas.

Government farm experts also were studying conditions in New England and in North and South Carolina, Louisiana, Virginia and Florida to determine whether federal help is needed.

Gov. Paul A. Dever closed the tinder-dry woods in eight Eastern Massachusetts counties yesterday as it appeared no appreciable rain was in sight. Rhode Island forests were closed by similar action Wednesday.

Farmers in states designated as disaster areas will be able to borrow money from the Farmers Home Administration to buy such things as hay and livestock feed if they are unable to obtain credit from local private or cooperative sources.

They may also obtain loans to finance production of their 1953 crops.

In Alabama, Georgia, Kentucky and Mississippi, the Agriculture department announced "pastures and hay crops have been virtually destroyed because of the drought. As a result, many farmers must buy feed for their livestock, and some farmers have started to make sharp reductions in their herds."

Sen. Eastland (D-Miss.) said the drought in his state is the worst since 1930.

In Massachusetts and Connecticut, agricultural spokesmen proclaimed the value of rainfall at a million dollars an inch.

Tobacco and potato farmers in Connecticut have contracted with a firm of artificial rain-makers to seed the clouds and try to produce a downpour. Growers around Worcester, Mass., have asked permission to do the same thing.

Only 52 of an inch of rain fell around Boston and in some other New England areas in July, making it the longest dry spell in 134 years.

The Maine Agricultural Department estimated a 70-per cent loss of the 3½-million dollar oat crop. More than 8,500 acres of forest have burned in Maine since the first of the month.

Pastors of 2,654 churches of the Baptist Convention in Georgia have been enjoined to lead their congregations in prayers for rain.

Forest fires and dwindling water supplies added to the troubles in the South.

Dog Willed Home, $15,000

Philadelphia, (AP)—Oh, for the life of a dog.

One like Buddy's anyway. Buddy is a 9-year-old schnauzer who is heir to a home in the country and $15,000 to keep bones on his plate for life.

All this was left to Buddy by his master, Loe Oscar Thieme of Philadelphia, whose will was filed for probate yesterday.

Thieme, an expert in the handling of estates, died July 23 at the age of 68.

Additional Burglary Count Filed

a property near Columbia, N. J., from which the trio took a large air compressor, smashed into pieces and sold for scrap) and four other minor burglaries in this immediate area.

Miller was arrested Monday by State Troopers Ed Benesi and Alex Kearn. The other two men were picked up the following day.

Both Northampton and New Jersey officials were rung in on the questioning which followed the arrest.

Other than the indication that Northampton intended to press three charges against the men, there was no indication of what future action outside authorities might take in the matter.

New Jersey police have filed detainers on the young men with local officials, however, pending the completion of their investigation.

Sgt. Morgan B. Davis of the Stroudsburg State police sub-station emphasized at the time of the arrest that the young men's apprehension would have been impossible without the close cooperation of Stroudsburg Chief James McConnell, East Stroudsburg Chief Swink, Delaware Water Gap Chief Fred Decker and Jesse Felker, chief of police at Portland.

Following last night's hearing before Peace Justice Bonser, Miller and LaBar were recommitted to the county jail to await trial during the fall term of court.

Bible School Program To Close Tonight

The closing program of the Daily Vacation Bible School at Hauserville Union Chapel will be held tonight at 7:30. The boys and girls will give a demonstration of activities at Bible School.

A combined picnic for the Bible School and Sunday School members will be held Saturday at the Stroudsburg playgrounds from 10 a.m. until 6 p.m.

Cars will leave from the chapel at 10 a.m. for those desiring transportation.

Games, swimming and fun for all have been arranged with awards for many games played.

The picnic lunch will begin at 12:30 and the supper hour at 5 for those who cannot come earlier.

In case of rain, the picnic will be postponed until the following Saturday, August 9.

Parents and friends are invited to both programs, according to William Marshall, pastor.

THEY WANT A GIRL just like the girl that married dear old dad—in honor of the man who wrote the song W. A. Dillon Relates Experiences As Song-Writer And Actor

Yesterday was a great day for the Stroudsburg Rotary—and especially for one of its members.

The member was Harry Albert whose all-time favorite song has for years been "I Want A Girl Just Like The Girl That Married Dear Old Dad."

At yesterday's luncheon meeting, Albert got a chance to hear the song straight from the lips of the man who wrote it—W. A. (Bill) Dillon.

Dillon—a man whose experience in show business dates back to the late 1890s when he first began his career traveling with a medicine show—gave the Rotarians a glimpse of life "backstage" as well as a few special arrangements of his own numbers.

Tall, lanky and grey, Dillon recounted the humorous sidelights of his early stage career when he had played leading roles in a dramatic stock company and brought the group "up to date" with some of his less well-known tunes.

The first of these was an off-the-cuff version of a tune first used by Al Jolson—"Hip-Hip-Hip-Notize Me"—which Dillon related had grown from his own earlier life with a medicine show when he had been forced to pinch-hit for a hypnotist.

Through a fast patter routine of "The Girl Who Lived In A Shoe" and a soft-shoe version of "Every Little Bit Added to What You've Got Makes A Little Bit More," Dillon "sold" both himself and his songs to his large audience.

When the time came, toward the last of the program, for the audience (and Mr. Albert's favorite) the performer had no trouble at all in getting the group to "join in" with a real, old-fashioned community sing.

Aided and abetted by Albert (who followed his dance routines from the floor) the 75-year-old songwriter put his own song across with a vengeance.

For Dillon, the current visit to the Stroudsburgs was a renewal of an old friendship on at least two counts.

He had, he told the group, first played in East Stroudsburg at the age of 15 shortly after he had joined the medicine show. The show's next stop had been Stroudsburg.

The visit gave him a chance, also, to renew his friendship with another well-known songwriter, George Graff, who now lives in Stroudsburg and is owner of the Kol-Ax Co. here.

Mr. Graff, it will be remembered, wrote the lyrics of "When Irish Eyes Are Smiling," as well as a number of other tunes.

Postmasters Hear State President

Delaware Water Gap—The Monroe County Branch of the National Assn. of Postmasters held a dinner meeting at Laurel Lodge, last night attended by 25 members of the organization.

The guest speaker was Wilbur G. Warner, postmaster at Lehighon, president of the State Assn.

DeWitt Price, county president, presided at the business meeting. P. D. Frankenfield, postmaster at Tobyhanna, a county director, gave a report on the State convention held at Bedford Springs in June.

President Price presented Mr. Warner who traced the Postoffice Department from the earliest days to the present time.

He stressed the importance of proper organization and education of postmasters. He urged that postmasters get better acquainted in order that business might be transacted in a more harmonious and friendly way.

Mr. Warner expressed a desire that efforts be made to have the next State convention held in Monroe County. This matter will be taken up at a future meeting of the county unit.

Norman B. Gregory, East Stroudsburg postmaster, gave brief remarks on the operation of offices.

Young Man Suffers Possible Broken Back When Car Hits Several Trees Along Highway

Milford—A 21-year-old Columbia University student employed as summertime worker at a Wayne County resort was in critical condition last night in Memorial Hospital, Honesdale, as a result of an accident near Hawley, Pa.

Milford State police listed the youth as Jerry Rose, 21 to 115 Fairview Ave., Jersey City, N. J.

Rose was admitted to the hospital apparently suffering from a broken back.

Hospital authorities said his condition was "critical" and "guarded." They were unable to move the patient to make x-rays in order to complete the diagnosis.

Also injured was Kenneth Schoenberg, 21, of 45 Broadman Parkway, Jersey City, a passenger in the vehicle operated by Rose.

State police said Rose was driving west on Route 6 five miles east of Hawley, Pa. in Pike County when he apparently lost control of the car he was operating. The car was owned by Echo Lark Camp, Pointelle, Pa. where Rose worked.

Police said the vehicle ran off the side of the road and struck several trees. The car was completely demolished, they indicated.

Rose was treated at the scene of the accident by Dr. Richard Porter, Hawley, who had been called for emergency medical aid.

Both young men were taken to the hospital by the Hessian ambulance, Honesdale.

Schoenberg was apparently suffering only body bruises, severe cuts on his left elbow and shock, police said.

Pfc. Leo Perwein of the Milford State police sub-station was in charge of the investigation.

Which Half Are You In?

Our democracy is one where only half of us choose those who govern. Almost unbelievable, but factually true is this situation.

You and I must face the shameful fact that we of the United States turn out to a lesser degree at the polls than the citizens of any other nation still privileged to select their own rules.

Our neighbors in Canada produce a steady 75 per cent participation of eligible voters. Contrast this with the pitiful 41 per cent of adults who took part in the American Congressional elections of 1950.

"The lack of interest of the electorate in American government is undoubtedly the most alarming fact in American life," warns one of the country's leading jurists, Chief Justice Arthur T. Vanderbilt of the State of New Jersey.

"In 1948 only 51 per cent of the qualified voters helped pick a President. I will say nothing more on this distressing subject beyond reminding you that in the last free election held in Germany 75 per cent of the electorate voted, in Austria 95 per cent and in Italy 98 per cent."

We agree. No more need be said to add to our shame.

To vote, however, we must be registered. Many have lost their permanent registration status because of failure to vote in two consecutive years.

Beginning Aug. 19, traveling registrars will sit in all sections of the county. Monroe County Commissioners are making it easy for everybody to register by taking registration facilities to every community. This service is in addition to maintenance of registration at the Court House in Stroudsburg.

Inside Washington

Washington—The Republican party's choice of who's going to head their national state is all settled but in Ohio there are signs of much unrest.

In an attempt to quiet this wrangling, that so far has failed to come to public attention, the GOP dispatched its top standard bearer to the Buckeye state to soothe the ruffled feelings of Republicans there.

Senator Richard Nixon, the GOP vice presidential candidate, and Arthur E. Summerfield, chairman of the Republican National committee, have answered the call of Ohio GOP Chairman Ray Bliss to make personal appearances to pour oil on the troubled waters.

The Buckeye Republicans, obviously dissatisfied with the rejection of their favorite son, Robert A. Taft, for the presidential nomination, apparently need a "shot in the arm."

Nixon and Summerfield were booked to address the Ohio GOP state convention July 31 to, as Bliss puts it—"spearhead a united campaign."

Bliss has also hinted that Dwight Eisenhower may visit the Buckeye state for personal conferences with his former opponent, Senator Taft.

The Case of the Missing Gown—While Mrs. Truman is generally credited with having persuaded her husband NOT to seek another four years in the White House, she still hasn't taken one move which would have made it official—the contribution of her 1948 inaugural gown to the Smithsonian Institution.

The Institution has on display the gowns of every First Lady from Martha Washington down to Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt—but still missing is that of Mrs. Truman.

When President Truman announced on March 29 that he was not a candidate for reelection, Smithsonian officials wrote the First Lady a polite note requesting that she send them her inaugural dress.

No answer was forthcoming. Since then the Institution has written two additional polite reminders and still NO reply.

Smithsonian officials aren't worried about the lack of response, though. They feel Mrs. Truman merely wanted the Democratic convention out of the way before she sent them the gown inasmuch as they are never displayed until their wearers have left the White House.

Lumber Fraud Probe—The FBI is now probing evidence of widespread fraud in the selling of lumber to the government for military construction of air bases in North Africa and Greenland. FBI agents have been working on the case for months. They had expected to present a report on their findings to the U. S. attorney in Brooklyn last month for possible prosecutions.

But the case turned out to be more involved than the sleuths had anticipated and government agents are still gathering information.

The fraud is said to involve the fraudulent upgrading of low-grade Douglas fir and southern pine lumber.

Dealers in the New York area are accused of passing off at least "hundreds of thousands" of board feet of low-grade fir and pine as top quality lumber.

The FBI is still trying to determine just how much money the fraudulent actions have cost the government.

A high-powered efficiency expert, conducting an expensive survey for a manufacturer of incinerators sent out an elaborate questionnaire beginning, "What make of garbage disposal unit do you use?" One woman answered, "Half a dozen dogs."

Irwin Edman, Columbia's famous but absent-minded philosophy professor, once set out for a concert in the dead of winter, and was annoyed to discover as he emerged into the cold that he had forgotten his hat.

He had to ride back up to the ninth floor, and when he made his reappearance, somewhat winded, a surprised companion said, "Well, where's the hat you went back for?" "Shucks," exclaimed Professor Edman, "Did I forget that too?"

That reminds me of the time in the late '30s that four Paris traffic cops were sent to London to learn why things ran so much more smoothly on the streets of the English metropolis. The four returned after two months of indoctrination, determined to make Paris traffic conform to English standards. On their first day back on the job, three were struck down by hansom-cab French drivers, and the fourth promptly resigned from the force.

It's Not So Rosy

If the American people are saving more money than they were before the Korean War, as President Truman says in his mid-year economic report, they are much thrifter than the financial policies of their government has given them reason to be.

The government is deep in the red. And going deeper.

But Mr. Truman is not alarmed. In fact, he thinks the government should spend more money on non-military activities. And he observes that the national debt is "not sufficiently threatening to our economy to justify reducing it by gambling with our national security."

The President concedes there has been some inflation. But he does not mention his own responsibilities for it. Or his failure to use the controls Congress gave him right after the Korean War broke out.

Few will be impressed by Mr. Truman's claim that even after taxes the average American is better off than he was in 1939. The average American knows that war and defense spending are largely responsible for a seemingly robust economy. And he knows both inflation and high taxes are taking a bigger and bigger bite out of his earnings, his insurance and his lifetime savings.

Moreover, millions of Americans, whose incomes have been fixed, are worse off. The average American wonders how long it will be, under present government spend-and-spend policies, before the same plight catches up with him, too.

My New York

—By Mel Heimer

New York—Things one New Yorker thinks about: It always is unsettling to me to observe the relief with which parents seem to unload their small fry into camps for the summer. You see them every morning in Grand Central Terminal here, these days, herding junior into a knot of similarly-bewildered small boys standing by a sign labeled "Camp Kutchawana," and then rushing off with big grins on their faces because they've gotten rid of the kids for two months. The kids know it, too. I suspect it gives them great big complexes.

Today's K. Heppner bulletin: the world's most wonderful woman is knocking London cold these days in Shaw's "The Millionaire." What else? . . . Talking the other night with Henry Jerome, whose band has been playing for eight straight years at the Hotel Edison's Green Room (reminds you of Hal Kemp), it was interesting to learn he never hires girl singers. "It destroys rivalry among the boys themselves and destroys the band's esprit de corps," Henry said. What he means is that when you have a female choir, you end up with too many broken skulls among the wolves.

A man I feel a little sorry for is Jack Gregson, who emcees radio's Live Like a Millionaire program. Jack's spent most of his life in southern California but in the last year his career brought him here to live and he has to give up that swimming, golfing, tennis, including a pool, and big house of his own, to shoehorn himself and his family into an Upper East Side apartment. "One good thing," he told me the other afternoon, "is that Gerry, our little boy, is getting some poise and polish here, that I don't think he'd get on the coast. The other day we ate in a French restaurant and he did most of the ordering for us, and he's only three. When he ran out of words in French he began counting from one to 10."

The word out now is that the London production of the play, The Little Hut, complete with the magnificent and obese Robert Morley, is coming to Broadway this fall, and as a man who was lucky enough to see it last year I recommended to you that you start getting your train and hotel reservations now and at least try to get tickets to the show, Superb . . . Mr. Ray Bolger, with whom I am willing to go along in his campaign to get himself called a dancing comedian instead of just a funny dancer, is in a movie at the Music Hall these days. This is interesting because Mr. B. danced in the stage show at the Music Hall when it first opened, 20 or so years ago.

Miss Denise Darcel, who has parlayed an interesting architectural arrangement and a pretty mediocre voice into coin of the realm, now is an American citizen. Also, at 26, she has an apartment on Park avenue, whilst I, 11 years older, am still trying to reach that end. Richard M. Nixon, the GOP vice president nominee, is only two years older than I, I feel ancient and a failure, this warm day . . . Occupational hazards: when Yehudi Menuhin was playing Beethoven at Lewisohn stadium the other night, he had to stop halfway through because airplanes overhead were drowning him out.

So Tommy Manville is married for the 14th time. Only time I ever met him was one spring afternoon at Bon Repos, his Westchester home, and he seemed genial and whimsical but not at all like a man who gets married every year or so . . . These Days - - By George E. Sokolsky

People, Food and Metals
The world is filling up, in spite of wars, epidemics and accidents. The birth rate increases in most countries. Furthermore, in many parts of the world, the shift is constantly taking place from farm to city, from raising food to industrial labor. In women, change their social habits by becoming employed in the service industries, as saleswomen, stenographers, laboratory technicians, nurses, etc.

These shifts of population are not the high standard of living countries; they occur in China and India as in the United States and Great Britain. They not only affect the processes of earning a living but also social relationships, particularly the institution of the family.

Perhaps for a quarter of a million years, man's main business was hunting for his food. The greatest advance, before the current century, was the domestication of plants and animals, perhaps 8,000 or 10,000 years ago. The invention of the tin can, cold storage, vacuum packing and the deep freeze are among the many processes which freed the individual man from the need for hunting and storing food. In recent years, even farmers industrialized themselves into one crop manufacturers and bought their beans in a chain store in the nearest town.

Shelter and clothing have similarly improved, although not as rapidly as the food supply. Shelter somehow has not caught the human imagination at its best, so that housing continues to be wastefully produced not only in big cities but in villages and rural areas. The thatched roof and mud hut are vestiges of lack of materials and transportation; but they exist in many parts of the world. The huge tenement of the city imprisons the human being in housing of inadequate sunshine and fresh air. Nevertheless, in spite of two wars and an increased population, more human beings are living in more comfortable homes in the 20th than in the 19th century.

The increase in population of the world during this century has been about one percent per year. Students of the problem speculate on how many people the earth can take in relation to available acreage for the raising of food. Humphrey Humphreys, of the University of Birmingham, concludes that under present circumstances, the maximum world population could be 8,500,000,000 human beings, which would be nearly four times our present population.

All the figures have one fallacy; they do not relate man to the supply of metals, such as iron-ore, copper, tin, etc. Our civilization materially is built on steel. In the United States, we are rapidly consuming our supply of high grade ore and are beginning large-scale imports of ore from Canada, Chile, Venezuela and other countries. Copper is being imported from other countries. As the metal supply of a nation gives out, the country becomes increasingly dependent upon imports, and unless a way is found to export commodities more than or equal to the imports, the standard of living must go down. This is Great Britain's principal economic trouble at this time.

The National Industrial Conference Board has recently issued a study which shows what can happen to countries. It deals with the work-time required of an individual for him to be able to buy the food that he and his family consume.

Taking the United States as a base, with an index number of 100, the fact appears that it takes an American who receives the highest wages in the world, less hours of work to gain the purchasing power of food. The comparative figure for Great Britain is 153.8; for West Germany 238.1; for the Netherlands 256.4; for Italy 381.6; for Soviet Russia 555.6. In a word, a Russian has to give more than five times as many work hours to get the same amount of food as an American worker does.

If the population continues to increase, it is likely that food specialists will find means to develop new and superior foods, to improve the strains of grains, vegetables, fruits and edible animals. But they cannot do anything about metals. Once they have been consumed, they are gone, except for the remnants used as scrap. Whether atomic fission and the art of plastics will save us, it is, at this stage, impossible to say.

But this stands out: two wars and a continuing preparation for war are reducing the metal resources of the United States, forecasting peril to an increasing population.

Hollywood

—by Gene Handsaker

Hollywood—The low-budget western is almost dead . . . for the present at least. And the varmint that laid it low is television.

So reports Herbert John Yates, the vigorous, 71-year-old president of Republic Pictures, who has kept more than one producer's share of posess galloping across the screen these many years. Yates, who got into the business as an investor in 1912 and presently found himself actively engaged, told me the other day:

"We're making only big pictures now. Big pictures are the only thing that can take people away from television."

Yates, in checkered cap and clear-rimmed spectacles, paused to watch attentively every time a take was shot on "Fair Wind to Java." This thatched-village set alone cost $35,000, he said, and the picture will total around $1,800,000. His filmed-in-Ireland "Quiet Man" cost more than two million dollars.

"We've made as many as 30 or 40 westerns a year and made a profit on all," Yates continued. "Now you find you don't attract the kids in areas where there's television. The kids see all the westerns they want at home. Why, there must be a thousand westerns on TV."

"But westerns will come back in theaters in a year or two. All the old westerns will have been played on TV. And it will cease to be the novelty for kids that it is today."

Yates said his studio has been modifying its western production program for 2 1/2 years.

Three years ago it was turning out six Roy Rogers pictures a year, eight Red Ryders, eight Rocky Lanes, and eight Rex Allens.

Rogers now has departed to

Fire Causes Slight Loss At Dwelling

The Acme Hose Co., East Stroudsburg, was called out at 7:20 p.m. yesterday for a fire which had ignited the weatherboarding of a small two-room frame building in the rear of 19 Borough St.

The fire was extinguished with water from a booster line with little damage. The firemen were back at their quarters at 7:40.

Jack Wyckoff, chief, said indications were that youngsters probably had lighted a fire along a fence near the building, which spread and set fire to the structure.

Gold was discovered in Tasmania in 1851 and 20 years later a valuable tin strike was made.

Famous Rider With Circus

Corky Cristiani, 21, and pretty, famous equestrienne with the King Bros. and Cristiani Combined Circus, like nearly all on the list of performers, has inherited her strength and skill and daring.

The life of sawdust and spangles is the only life she has ever known as she was born while her parents were with a circus exhibiting at the time in Copenhagen, Denmark. She represents the third generation of a famous circus family.

While her act lasts but eight minutes, months and years of constant practice were required by Miss Corky to perfect her act. There is no act with a circus more daring than that of a bareback rider. It requires extreme skill to turn a somersault from a galloping horse to the ground without experiencing a sprained ankle.

Equally important is the training of the ringstock. A circus ring is 40 feet in diameter and to keep from throwing a performer off balance a horse must take just so many measured steps. The gait must be mathematically uniform. A serious injury to a performer might result if a horse stumbled.

The King Bros. and Cristiani Combined Circus is coming to East Stroudsburg next Monday under auspices of the Lions Club.

With plans progressing for construction of a 2,500 foot approach to the new Delaware River bridge there the raising of several landmarks takes precedence, and equipment saved from the destruction is being sold on location.

Schlesser Demolition Co. of Scranton has a 75-working-day contract and its brief stay there accounts for the "temporary business." Charles Schlesser, official of the firm highly lauded the equipment to be taken from Hill Crest apartment house and noted

He has been awarded an associateship conferred by the Photographic Society of America. He is a member of Pennsylvania Academy of Science, Chicago Nature Camera Club, Hawk Mountain Sanctuary Association.

His presentation Saturday deals with experiences and adventures in nature that interpret the four seasons in completely new terms.

Annual Antique Show Here To Benefit Hospital Fund

The Armory of the 109th Infantry, Washington St., East Stroudsburg, will be filled with antiques of all kinds next week for the eighth annual Pocono Mountains Antique Show and Sale, sponsored by the General Hospital Auxiliary of the General Hospital of Monroe County.

The show is being directed as in the past by Mrs. Gilbert E. Barthold.

Nearly 50 dealers from four states and the nation's capital will display for sales their wares collected from many countries and many ages.

Laura Reinhard, of Washington, D. C., will have a two-booth display of 17th and 18th century maps and news together with 18th and 19th century prints: sporting, costume, military, bird, fruit and flowers.

Three dealers in antique jewelry will return this year with their large selections of all types of jewelry and silver: the Anchor Curio Shop of Jamaica, L. I.; Miss Purnell of Utica, N. Y., and Theodore Schmukler, of Bushkill.

Gene Rekowski, of Buttzville, N. J., who converts antiques into lamps will have a booth where he will show lamps made from old vases, pitchers and other articles. Mrs. Dinner, of Scranton, will be another repeat exhibitor with a display of decorated china. Betty Archer of Canandaigua, N. Y., and Frances Machie of Bloomsfield, N. J., will show pieces in Meissen and Dresden.

Koch's Antiques of Reading will again feature a large selection of pressed glass, and the J. and G. Shop of Farnhurst, Del., will have a booth of colored glass including fairy lamps and goblets.

Dealers with a general selection who are returning to the show after several former successful shows in the Stroudsburgs are: Mrs. Milton Gordon, of Chester; Kathleen Wurster, of Williamsport; Frank Fitzgerald, of Briar Heath, Snyder; Dorothy Linemiller and Helen Fasolt, of Harrisburg; Helen Macdonald, of Bloomsfield, N. J.; Carle Kaplan of Old Forge; Marie Keyes, of Bogota, N. J.; Evelyn Benson of Rohnertown; Edith Frank, of Swiftwater; Mrs. W. P. Bower and Mrs. Norma Dee, of York.

Among the newcomers this year will be Myrtle C. Binnis, of Rutherford, N. J.; Fern and Scott Lott of Warsaw, N. Y.; Mrs. William Mengel, of Dover; Mrs. Rose Ford, of Williamsport; Helen Jourdet with early pieces from Bainbridge, Lancaster County; the Calhouns from Staatsburg, Dutchess County, N. Y.; Gordon W. Chase, of Muncy; Tom and Florence Wright of Natchung, N. J.; Milla Hartley, of Mount Bethel; the Smithers Antiques of Lewistown; Edith Stubbs of Lancaster, and Blue Totem Antiques, Delaware Water Gap.

This year there will be a wide selection of furniture to be shown by Tommy Hagan of Williamsport; the Fitzgeralds, Gordon Chase and others. In addition a large booth has been leased to Ducklock Brothers to show the reproductions made at Portland.

The show will open on Tuesday, August 5, at 1 p. m. and will continue through Friday, August 8, being open until 10:30 each night.

The auxiliary members are again operating a cafeteria in the basement of the armory with Mrs. George U. Hauser, president, in charge.

Mrs. J. Harold Lanterman is chairman of the committee in charge of admissions.

The show, which is among the biggest summer shows in the country, annually attracts not only local antique lovers but also draws largely from the summer visitors.

Just Between Us

—By Bobby Westbrook

The coming of the Antique Show seems to mark a turning point in the summer—turning too soon to fall and all the bustling activities thereof. Not as decisive as the West End Fair which seems to put a period to vacation activities, the Antique Show is sort of a comma along the way.

But speaking of antiques reminds me that everything old isn't necessarily antique. For instance Elmer Edinger, who was 91 yesterday, is far from a back number. As a matter of fact when I was trying to find him to get a birthday picture, he was out for a walk, if you please.

Though speaking of fall activities—may be that fall will be a recess for the folks at Bushkill who seem to have been mighty busy this summer with auctions, bazaars, bake sales and concerts.

One of these days we might pause long enough to look at this summer that's passing so swiftly. That garden we tended so lovingly in the spring is now blooming its head off with nobody paying much attention.

And small wonder with every dusty roadside a garden in itself. Queen Anne's lace, and Black-eyed Susans, goldenrod and blue bonnets, blooming as bright and beautiful as if someone had planted and weeded and watered and hoed them into perfection.

Makes you wonder what all the fuss was about.

Mr. Edinger Celebrates 91st Birthday

Elmer Edinger, of Lincoln Ave., East Stroudsburg, celebrated his 91st birthday yesterday in his usual good health and spirits. He and his brother, of Center St., East Stroudsburg, who was 92 years old in January, are the two surviving brothers of a family of eight boys, five of whom passed the 90-year mark in birthdays.

They were the sons of Mr. and Mrs. John K. Edinger, of Poplar Valley.

Last night, Mr. Edinger celebrated his usual walk down town. He makes his home with his son, Ralph, on Lincoln Ave.

The children of the Warren St. section of East Stroudsburg anticipated the coming circus season in the Stroudsburgs by staging their own circus last night at the home of Mrs. G. E. Terboss, Warren St.

It was a small, but most successful, circus attended by 28 members of the families and their friends. The program included singing, dancing, trapeze acts, a magician, mind reader and games and hula dancers.

The starring personnel included Linda Michaels, Carol Laise, Susan Laise, Marilyn Sterner and Charles Byenzli.

Refreshments were served.

THE Wyckoff SHOPPER

One of the things I never knew 'till now, is that Edna Brockman can make a reservation by plane to any corner of the globe in just a few minutes time, and make out the tickets for her client right at her own desk in the Wyckoff Travel Bureau. This then, is what it means to "fly through the air with the greatest of ease"; no more standing in line at windows while time and temper grow short . . . you just have someone else worry about your comfort, while you sit back and relax in the air conditioned comfort of our store.

Edna tells me that August is the month for "flying high," and accordingly some of the airlines are offering trips of special interest. One can go from New York to Los Angeles for $99 plus tax, or from New York to Miami for $43 plus tax. She also informs me that, beginning August first, TWA's Martin Skyliner will begin serving the Allentown and Bethlehem airports.

These giant planes are something new in the blue—and have been acclaimed by travelers on other runs for comfort, speed and modern convenience. All of this adds up to making every precious moment of a holiday count. How I envy anyone whose plans are all "up in the air!"

Incidentally, the Wyckoff store, which has been long out of service during the absence of Holt Wyckoff, is once again keeping our executives in touch with retailing activities far and wide. This past Monday, our merchandising manager piloted Arthur Budner, head of advertising, and Bud Altman, head of our men's department, to York, Pa., where they assisted in a gigantic promotion of men's wear. They returned Tuesday night, but are still walking on clouds of enthusiasm . . .

Rachel Arnold of our infants' department, tells me that her son, Earl, an airman first class, arrived last week at his new post in Tripoli. Before he left, his aunt, wife of Henry Kresge, our Sears manager, had asked him to send her some sand from Africa. According to Rachel, part of "the shores of Tripoli" arrived Tuesday in an envelope . . .

I notice heavy red jackets for boys on display now in our boys' department. And did you know that you can easily repair the frayed sleeves of jackets and snowsuits with the knitted cuffs sold at 49c a pair in our notions department? . . . Amy Eilenberger points out that the lovely, deep straw bags now being sold at $1.50 and $3.25 are not only timely at this minute, but are practically wonderful all year round, for one's knitting, embroidery, or mending. They come in natural, red or navy . . . One department that functions so smoothly and efficiently one rarely hears of it, is our sewing room, where Eva Edson, Mary Hobbs and Sue Ruster hold forth in unfringed good humor. Ask any woman employee about their kindness in an emergency, and you'll have their praises sung. They're never too busy to remove an ink spot from a dress, tack up a torn hemline, or say something kind when it's needed. They have plenty of alterations but never alterations. The letter "c" makes a world of difference in "TIA" word!

Pocono A.C. Suffers Serious Loss At Hands Of Tatamy, 5-1

Loser Falls Into Tie For Fourth Place

Tatamy—Pocono A.C. fell back into a fourth place tie with Stockertown in the red-hot Blue Mountain League flag race yesterday, as Tatamy took the measure of Manager John Schoonover's charges here on the winning club's home grounds, 5-1.

Art Stasiak, manager of the Tatamy club, threw a six-hitter at his "cousins" from Monroe County, as the slow-balling right hander defeated Pocono A.C. for the third time this season, with his assortment of "junk." Tatamy has swept all four games played between the two foes this season.

The home club opened the scoring on Aiden "Red" Fetherman with a run in the first inning, when Don Sweda booted Wilfred Wessner's grounder to shortstop, to put the first run on base. Wessner went to third on a single by Ernest Lahr and scored on the first of three one-ply wallop by Howard "Howie" Gutshall. Lahr attempted to steal home on the next play, but was out at the plate. Lahr was also forced from the game on the same play, as Tatamy's third sacker reined in a damaged knee.

Tatamy picked up another run in the third on a walk to Walter Kostenbader, a single by Gutshall and a fielder's choice grounder by Dan Siegfried. Gutshall and Siegfried each stole two bases in this inning. Gutshall's final steal being of home, when a squeeze play backfired.

Only Marker

Pocono A.C. fought its way back into the game in the fourth, when Bill Frack walked, went to third on a double to right center by Bob Echick and crossed the plate on a fly to deep center by John Drew.

However, Tatamy took all doubt out of the contest in the fifth round with a three-run outburst. Singles by Gutshall, Siegfried and Charley Liberto, the latter with the bases loaded, and a double by Bill Gaston were the big blows in the three-run uprising.

Pocono A.C. threatened on several occasions and hit the ball hard several times, only to have the ball go directly to a fielder and halt what appeared to be a promising rally.

The A.C. contingent tangles with East Bangor, at East Bangor, on Sunday, in another chapter in its last ditch battle for the final playoff berth in the circuit. Bob "Willie" Eisenberger will probably do the pitching for the Monroe County crew in this contest.

Win On Road

Denver, 6P—Most professional baseball clubs depend on home stands to boost their win-and-loss percentage, figuring they will do well to play 500 per cent ball on the road. But through June 30 in the Class "A" Western League, the Denver Bears reversed the idea. They won only 18 at home against 15 defeats while in enemy parks they racked up 24 wins against 18 setbacks.

Weill Quits IBC Position

New York, 6P—Al Weill resigned yesterday as matchmaker for the International Boxing Club and said he hoped to resume management of "Rocky" Marciano, contender for the world heavyweight title. Weill said he would leave the IBC effective September 1.

Weill has been matchmaker for the IBC for three years. During that time Marciano was managed by Marty Weill, Al's son.

Announcement
The announcement was made following a conference at Al Weill, Jim Norris, President of IBC, and Robert Christenberry, Chairman of the New York Athletic Commission.

United States Runs Into Trouble In Battle To Pass Russia In Olympic Scoring Derby

By Ted Smith

Helsinki 6P—United States' chances of overtaking Russia in the battle for unofficial team honors in the Olympic games dwindled yesterday as two American boxers were eliminated and American swimmers found increasingly tough competition from the Japanese and Europeans.

The United States, however, managed to pick up two points, but the Soviets still lead, 523 and one-half to 465, with three days of competition left.

Still Hope

Only heavy American scoring in swimming plus points in basketball, boxing and equestrian events can bring the United States out on top.

The USA met Argentina, its arch-rival in basketball from South America, and won, 85 to 76. The United States will now play Russia for the championship tomorrow. The Americans beat the Soviets, 86 to 53, in an earlier round of the tournament.

Joan Harrison of South Africa won the only swimming final of the day, the women's 100 meter backstroke, with Goertje Wielema of Holland second. Joan Stewart of New Zealand third. Johanna de Korte of Holland fourth and Barbara Stark of Orinda, Calif., fifth. Miss Harrison's time was 1:14.3.

America's 200-meter backstroke men looked good in the preliminaries. Each of the three came home a heat winner after Ludevic Komadel of Czechoslovakia had lowered the Olympic record from 2:39.3 to 2:38.9. Gerald Holan, a 21-year-old Ohio State student, pushed it down again, this time to 2:36.8.

Sets Pace

Herbert Klein, the world record holder from Germany, won his heat in 2:37, also under the old record and Bowen Stassforth, an Iowa graduate, equalled the Olympic mark. John Davies of Australia, who attends the University of Michigan, won in 2:37.7 and Kenneth Kitzowski, the third American, won his heat in 2:40.6.

Shiro Hashizume, another of Japan's great swimmers, set the pace in the 1,500-meter or metric mile, qualifying heats. He sped the distance in 18:34 as compared to the Olympic record of 19:12.4. Other heat winners under the old record were Yale's Jim McLane, United States, 19:09.3; Tetsuo Okamoto, Japan, 19:05.6; Jean Boiteux, France, 19:12.3; Honolulu's Ford Konno, United States, 18:53.7, and Peter Duncan, South Africa, 19:03.5.

In heats for the women's 400-meter free style, Evelyn Kawamoto, from Honolulu and representing the United States, made the fastest mark of all and bettered the Olympic record of 5:17.8. She was timed in 5:16.6.

Barring an unusual upset, the United States seems assured of the basketball championship, having outclassed Russia so decisively in their first meeting. Argentina will play Uruguay for third place.

Five American boxers won to advance to the semi-finals and two were eliminated in daytime fights.

Brooklyn Picks Up Ground With Two Wins Over Pirates

Cubs Use Big Inning To Sink Giants

New York, 6P—The Chicago Cubs hammered across nine runs in a riotous seventh inning yesterday to defeat the New York Giants, 11-8, and take the series, three games to one.

Fifteen Cubs came to bat in the rally, connecting for eight hits, one of them a three-run homer by rookie catcher Harry Chiti. There also were two walks and three Giant errors in the inning.

Lead

The uprising gave the Cubs an 11-1 lead, but they had to do some tail-battling to forestall the Giants.

The National League champions scored three times in their half of the seventh, then came up with four more in the eighth on outfielder "Dusty" Rhodes' grand slam homer.

"Dutch" Leonard, 42-year old Cub knuckelballer, relieved starter Paul Minner at this point and retired six batters in a row to clinch the Chicago victory.

Credit for the win went to Minner, who was tapped for 11 hits, "Whitey" Lockman homering in addition to Rhodes. It was southpaw Minner's tenth triumph.

Dave Koslo, started for the Giants but the little lefty had to leave in the seventh and was charged with his fifth defeat.

Good Hitting Marks

New York, 6P—Jim (Dusty) Rhodes, outfielder recently obtained by the New York Giants from Nashville, batted .344 and drove in 140 runs for Rock Hill, S. C., in the Class "B" Tri-State League last year. He hit 31 home runs. This season he was leading the Southern Association with a .354 mark in 89 games when the Giants bought his contract. In 1947 he broke in with Hopkinsville, Ky., batting .326. He's 25 and resides in Montgomery, Ala.

The Indians scored in the first inning on a double by Barney McCoskey, a wild pitch, and a fly by Larry Doby. Wilber's homer gave the Red Sox a 2-1 lead, but the Indians tied the score in the fifth on a walk to McCoskey, who stole second, a single by Bob Avila and an infield out by Doby.

Shantz Wins As A's Sweep Pair From Tigers

Detroit, 6P—The sixth-place Philadelphia Athletics swept a doubleheader with the last-place Detroit Tigers yesterday, taking the second game, 3 to 2, after little Bobby Shantz recorded his 19th victory by a 2-1 margin in the opener.

The A's rallied with three runs in the ninth inning to win the nightcap.

Unearned

All three of the first game's runs were unearned. The A's got their two in the sixth after Detroit had taken a 1 to 0 lead in the fifth when Steve Souchock doubled, took third on a sacrifice and was allowed to come home when Umpire Jim Stevens ruled catcher Joe Astroth was guilty of "obstructing the runner" during a run-down play.

The A's loaded the bases with one out on Ferris Fain's single, an error by shortstop Al Fedoroff on Dave Philley's grounder and a walk to Gus Zernial.

After Allie Clark fouled out, "Skeeter" Kell singled to center, scoring both Fain and Philley.

Righthander Virgil Trucks had the second game all sewed up going into the ninth inning, 2 to 0, mainly on his first major league home run in the sixth and Walt Dropo's nineteenth in the seventh.

But pinchhitter Allie Clark and Keith Thomas singled and doubled. "Skeeter" Kell ran for Clark and came home on a passed ball by catcher Matt Batts. Eddie Joost singled, scoring Thomas to tie the score and came home himself with the winning run on Fain's double-to-left.

Cardinals Down Braves, 8-3

Boston, 6P—The St. Louis Cardinals teed off against Vern Riffe for six runs in the fifth inning yesterday to regain their sizzling National League pace with an 8-3 victory over the Boston Braves.

At the time the Braves were in a 1-1 tie with Wilmer Mizell, who wound up with his sixth win against five losses, despite giving up 13 hits and six walks.

Attack

With Bill Johnson, who collected two singles in the fifth, leading off, the Cardinals sent 10 batters to the plate during their furious rally.

The first Boston run was provided by Sam Jethroe's ninth homer of the season in the third inning. Jack Dittmer led the Braves with three singles out of four tries.

Increase In Salary

New York, 6P—Billy Martin, Yankee second baseman, Hec Rodriguez, third baseman for the Chicago White Sox, and Maurice "Toby" Atwell, rookie catcher with the Chicago Cubs, recently received new 1952 contracts, which means one thing—a pay increase. The baseball office here made the announcement.

Esso Extra Gasoline

Many motorists believe that all good gasolines are generally pretty much alike. But here are the facts as proved by industry-accepted road and laboratory tests! Esso Extra gives you a remarkable combination of qualities that will improve the all-year, all-around performance of 9 out of 10 cars on the road.

We believe a trial will prove to you Esso

Extra delivers results no other gasoline can—in full power, long mileage, high anti-knock, quick starting, fast engine warm-up, and protection against vapor-lock stalling.

And while you're at your Esso Dealer's, there's certainly no better time to let him give your car a complete lubrication and careful check-up for the hot weather driving you'll be doing.

* Esso Extra Gasoline is good for ALL cars, but in 9 out of 10 it will give better all-around performance all year 'round than any other gasoline. Only a car with an engine that's poorly adjusted, badly worn, or one with unusual compression characteristics may be unable to use fully the many extra qualities of this great gasoline. See your nearby Esso Dealer today!

Roberts Back In Hospital; Hearing On Writ Postponed

of the car open and Roberts fall out. Mrs. Roberts, he said, was seated on the floor of the car on the right, front side.

Dudeck said he bandaged Roberts' wound while Roberts told him of two hitchhikers with guns who were trying to get to Pittsburgh. The injured man was coherent, able and willing to answer questions, the student said.

Dudeck, however, was unable to fix the exact spot in which he had found Mr. and Mrs. Roberts.

It was at this point that Roberts had to be led from the courtroom. At shortly after 12:10 p.m. Judge Lewis ordered a recess until 2 p.m. at Slatery's request.

After Roberts' readmission to the hospital for treatment, Judge Lewis ordered the hearing continued "indefinitely."

Still left to be heard from are some 20 witnesses that Assistant D.A. Teller is calling in substantiation of the State's case.

Foremost among these is Dr. Mary Willard, a State College criminologist who, according to District Attorney Louis Feldman, "holds the key" to the prosecution case.

When Roberts was arraigned, Feldman said that the Edwardsville machinist's story was full of contradictions which, together with evidence produced by Dr. Willard and others, indicated that he himself was the slayer.

They're united, too, in their ideals of service to the people of Wilkes-Barre, where they make their home.

Al, an Army veteran, is also an old-timer in the postal service. There isn't a family on his route that doesn't recognize his cheery ring at the door! People can almost set their watches by his coming and going, even when bad weather makes traveling tough.

In a different way, Al's wife Rosemary performs an essential community service. A clerk at the Bell Telephone plant construction office, she keeps careful track of many of the construction jobs that add up to telephone expansion. She plays a vital part in the program now under way to meet Wilkes-Barre's call for more and more telephone service.
